A NEW AGE OF BELIEF

The present age is an age of skepticism.

A glance at any modern magazine, a study of any religious publication, a survey of the weekly output of sermons in any city, will convince you of that. The average writer or preacher seems to take it for granted that unbelief is more firmly entrenched today than ever before. The skeptic is having his hey-day.

But things move in cycles, and not good of doubt—for there have been others in the history of the world—has finite capacity for unbelief. The age of faith lying beyond the present age of skepticism may seem a job for a man with some common good eyes; yet there this age of faith is the theology of the westerner; the way, the advent is not so very far off. There is, for instance, Salvador de Madariaga—one of the most thoughtful, intelligent European authors—who has written for the New York Herald-Tribune, a series of articles expressing the belief that the Western World is about to "rediscover God"—to emerge from its era of weary disbelief into an era of faith and wonder, which are the hallmarks of all devotion.

A reason for advancing this proposition is interesting. His few decades ago science suddenly expanded the scope of its operations. It upset many old beliefs, dug up many new facts and theories about the world, and theories about the world that look doubtfully at dogmas that had gone unquestioned for centuries and raised that peculiar, fascinating, terrifying spectre of a mechanical, soulless universe.

This, as much as anything, is back of modern skepticism. But now, says Senor de Madariaga, science is taking a new tack. It is beginning to realize that it has not scratched the surface of knowledge. A generation ago it was only a matter of time before all of the secrets of creation were laid bare; now it is believed to be so. It is never known. It is, in fact, beginning to see that man's knowledge is but a tiny speck in the universe about him will always seem a mystery to him. So, says commonly good eyes; yet there this age of faith is the theology of the westerner; the way, the 'method' toward God. Science leads to the conclusion that the world—including matter—can only be explained in terms of energy. The time is therefore at hand when the westerner will see God with the eyes of the intellect.

The world, in other words, is the easily-understood place of some co-existence investigators have thought. The chemist and the physicist are daily proving that it is filled with unutterable marvels, and that it is not possible, then—even probable—that we are on the verge of a great quickening and awakening, in which the old awe, the old sense of being the presence of unutterable marvels, will once again be a part of the daily life of every man.

THE NEED FOR ADVERTISING

The importance of newspaper advertising for retailers under present market conditions is emphasized in a timely report on merchandising made by the Journalism School of Southern California University.

By Marc N. Goodman, the university's field representative.

The advertising in a community, "will generally be found to be a better good concern than that without such considerations, to see that man's knowledge is but a tiny speck in the universe about him will always seem a mystery to him. So, says commonly good eyes; yet there this age of faith is the theology of the westerner; the way, the

DEATH OF JOHN OAKDEN

Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon, July 19, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Brewster, 20th street, Macleod, for John Oakden, who died at his home on Friday, July 11, at Asbury Park, New Jersey, U. S. A.

The circumstances attending the death of Mr. Oakden were quite unexpected. He was attending a special service in the Salvation Army, and during the service the hymn, "I will meet you at the River," in which the deceased joined heartily, was sung.

At the close of the hymn, Mr. Oakden sat down, and a few minutes after, his head fell over, and he expired before medical aid or his daughter with whom he was living, could be summoned. As it was known he had been in his usual health, his death was quite unexpected. He loved the church and its services, no matter of what denomination, and it is believed that had he had his wish, his death would have taken place in the place of his going, would have been his choice.

The funeral service held previous to the remains being sent to Alberta was conducted by the Salvation Army and the Rev. MacMurray of the First Baptist church, of which church Mr. Oakden was a faithful member. The service was held in Bangs Avenue church, and a member of the choir sang "Goodnight here, good morning there."

Mr. Oakden was born in England and reached the ripe old age of 86 years. He left England with his family about 40 years ago and came to America, locating first in New York, where they remained till 1911.

Mr. Oakden resided about ten miles south of Macleod where he farmed till about eight years ago when he sold out. He lived for a number of years with his daughters at Macleod and four years ago he went back east to reside with a daughter in New Jersey. The deceased was very well known in Macleod and district, as he was most regular attender and member of the old Methodist church all the years he lived in this district.

Mr. Oakden leaves to mourn his demise five daughters and one son, Mrs. William Finn of East, Ontario; Mrs. W. H. Roberts, of Interlaken; Robert Brown of Bridgeport, Conn.; Mrs. Charles Brewster, and Mrs. Joseph McNab of Macleod. His wife, who died predeceased him a number of years ago and is buried in the Macleod cemetery.

The funeral service at Macleod was conducted by the Rev. Frank Randall Powell, rector of Christ church. The pallbearers, old friends of the deceased, were Messrs. Alex Brewster, Barnard Roberts, W. G. Andrews, Fred Thevils, John Foster and Fred Crowson.

REGULAR MEETING MACLEOD TOWN COUNCIL

The Macleod Town Council met on Monday night for the regular meeting. There were present: Mayor J. Swinerton; Councillors C. W. Stevens, C. E. Tweed, Dr. Farnet, Alex McLeod, and A. Day.

A letter was read from Councillor W. O. Hoodless, resigning his position as Councillor. The resignation was accepted.

Arrangements were made for the transfer of lot 18 on the south side of 24th Street to Geo. H. Scougall from D. T. Johnson. Mr. Scougall asked for a storm sewer to be put in at the corner of 24th and 25th Streets. The matter was referred to the Works and Sanitary committees.

The usual monthly accounts were passed for payment. Councillor C. E. Tweed was appointed as chairman of the Water and Light Committee and Councillor Dr. Farnet was appointed chairman of the Sanitation and Vaccination Committee. Councillor Alex McLeod was appointed Deputy Mayor in place of Councillor W. O. Hoodless resigned.

THE U.F.A. GROUP AT OTTAWA

Unpledged.
Free of Party Ties.

VOTE FOR COOTE
and maintain a direct representative of agriculture at Ottawa.

REASONS WHY G. G. COOTE SHOULD CONTINUE TO REPRESENT MACLEOD FEDERAL RIDING

It is the policy of the U. F. A. members in Ottawa to make the Dominion of Canada.

They are unpledged, free of the hampering ties of old party lines.

They obstruct no wise legislation because of party affiliation.

An examination of what they have done in Ottawa in the past nine years, will prove that no group of representatives which Alberta has ever had in Ottawa, has shown a record equal to that of the U. F. A. Alberta members in a similar period of legislation.

Handed shows that they have fearlessly supported the control of the Federal Government, rectified four times and matured in hand for two.

To mention a few of the economic benefits Won through the U. F. A. Group:

(1) The restoration of the Crows' Nest agreement has meant a saving of $69 on every 1500 bushel car of wheat shipped from Alberta since 1924 or a total of $23,000,000 saving in freight.

(2) The reduction of the tariff on motor cars and trucks in 1925, which has meant a saving of from $30 to $150 on practically every car sold in Canada since that time.

(3) An insistence on the absurdity of the immigration policy, dressed so persistently that government investigation resulted last session in abandonment of the policy.

(4) Credit monopolists received their first challenge from U. F. A. and labor groups, and the first step toward suitable credit facilities for agriculture were taken out at Farmer's best. The Canadian Farm Loan Act was then enacted.

(5) The legislation necessary for Old Age Pensions passed in 1925, was strongly encouraged by the U. F. A. group.

(6) In transportation, the Hudson Bay Railroad was forced to completion by the urging of the U. F. A. and Progressive groups.

(7) Constant pressure for the construction of the Peace River Railway led to the Pacific Railway Act, a statement from the Prime Minister that if the two railways interested did not start construction, within a year, his government, if in power, would find a way to make a commencement.

(8) The amendments to the Grain Act have naturally been passed strongly by U. F. A. members.

(9) The 11 o'clock adjournment.

They have consistently urged:

(1) That power development should be under public ownership and control.

(2) That the defeat of a government measure should not necessarily mean the defeat of a government.

(3) A further reduction in the tariff on motor trucks.

(4) The appointment of a commission to investigate the coal industry, with a view to National Coal Policy.

(5) Representation for agriculture at the Imperial Economic Conference and where trade treaties are negotiated.

(6) The building of a trans-Canada highway.

Unemployment—

Harvard of April 2 contains a most powerful appeal from the Progressive group, presenting the unemployment situation and asking that some form of unemployment insurance be initiated. Ample relief is shown in a survey of the economic structure of Canada. Concrete solutions for unemployment relief in Nova Scotia and elsewhere were given, but were not acted upon.

The Australian Treaty—

The Australian Treaty was first brought before the House on June 23rd, 1925. ALL of the U. F. A. Members either voted or were paired against it.

At the last session, 1930, Mr. Gardiner, U. F. A., moved a resolution asking for the abrogation of the Australian Treaty. The motion was supported by every member of the U. F. A. Group. The Conservatives, including Mr. Bennett, voted with the government against the abrogation of this treaty.

While not all efforts of the U. F. A. Progressive group have been successful, every session of Parliament sees some definite aims realized.

GEORGE COOTE—

George Coote, if elected, will be the first man to support good legislation, coming from any quarter and any government, and to support it.

He has initiated many splendid reforms, from which we all benefit.

Now, at this time, more than ever before, Canada needs a strong influence. The U. F. A. Progressive group provides that necessary corrective influence.

If your vote is cast for a U. F. A. candidate, it carries with it at the present crisis, a stronger potential power than if cast for a candidate pledged to party.

VOTE FOR J.D. MATHESON, K.C.

THE LIBERAL-CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE FOR MACLEOD FEDERAL CONSTITUENCY

AND FOR

Joseph D. Matheson, K.C.

(1) Unemployment relief by a special act of Parliament to be called immediately after the election by Hon. R. B. Bennett, to pass grants for public works, and

(2) Protection for the consumer by legislation to prevent Canadian Manufacturers and other protected interests from adding the customs and excise tariffs to the proper selling price of agricultural implements and other goods.

They obstruct no wise legislation because of party affiliation.

They support all measures which seem to be in the interests of the Dominion of Canada.

The Daily Vacation Bible School, or Church Vacation School, as it is being called, meeting for two weeks at the United Church in Hall is attracting quite a large number of bright young people of both sexes. The enrolment is about fifty in all and the leaders, Miss Frances Davis and Mr. Rowe, report interesting sessions. There are such elements in the Training Program as Worship Training, Bible Drill and Memory work, Music Training, with singing in secular and sacred songs, Character Story and Conversation, and Expressional Activity for the different ages. Miss Davis is leader of the Junior Intermediate section, and Mr. Rowe of the Primary.

WEDDING BELLS

BULLIED—ALLISON

A very pretty wedding was solemnized when the marriage of Jeanne Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Allison, of Granum, Alberta, and E. A. Bullied, of Calgary, took place in the Presbyterian Church, Granum, on Wednesday, July 24th. Rev. Alex. Forsgren, of Macleod, officiating. The bride wore a French frock with light fitting sleeves and court train of Alencon lace over which fell the bridal veil of silk tulle worn with Juliet cap and pearl necklace and orange blossoms; white kid slippers to match her gown and carrying a shower of delicate pink shades. Little Queenie Russell, the dainty little flower girl, was in white silk chiffon, her mass of streaming curls of rich brown hair held in place with a band of bridal roses and ample blossoms; with shoes and stockings to match; carrying a basket of butterfly roses tied with pink tulle a real piece of tulip beauty as she led the bridal party down the aisle of the wedding march. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of flowers from the gardens of Mrs. Russell Smith,
